Team Composition

Once a team is registered, no modification in its composition is allowed. In the event of unforeseen circumstances, the organisers have to be notified of any changes and the reasons for doing so. Changes will be assessed on a case by case basis. The organisers are contactable at competition@sgbcc.com.sg.

Fair Play

- Teams will only submit their own original work for all deliverables. All sources must be specified and identified clearly.
- The team is not allowed to receive any coaching from their faculty advisor or have any contact with other faculty or external experts during the competition that will result in an unfair advantage.
- Teams are not allowed to include anything in all their deliverables that would enable judges to identify their education institutions.

Registration

- To register, students should log onto www.sgbcc.com.sg. Registration ends on 21 February 2013, 2359hrs.
- In selecting team names, teams are not allowed to indicate or suggest their education institution.
- After registration, no changes to the team's name can be made.
- Teams are to furnish the organizers with a valid email and contact number.
- Upon registration, teams will receive an email confirming the validity of the email address provided. Emails will be the main communication channel between teams and the organizers. The onus is on all teams to ensure receipt of the confirmation email.
- In the event no confirmation email is received, teams are to notify the organizers promptly at competition@sgbcc.com.sg.
- By registering, competitors consent to having their information published on www.sgbcc.com.sg.
